

Call for Abstracts

8th International Conference on the History of Occupational and Environmental Health

Recognizing the rich history of occupational and environmental health

The Scientific Committee on the History of Prevention of Occupational and Environmental Diseases is hosting the 8th International Conference on the History of Occupational and Environmental Health.

The conference will emphasize the historical influences on occupational health, including technological advances and socio-economic changes that have introduced new hazards. It aims to connect historians and practitioners, featuring keynote lectures, open calls for abstracts, and a pre-conference program.

We look forward to seeing you in Leuven!

FROM APRIL 15 - 17, 2026

Leuven, Belgium

LEARN MORE

<https://bit.ly/icoh-history-2026>

Photo: Workers wear protective equipment while working with sulfur in Metallurgie Hoboken, Belgium. Studio F. Philippi, ca. 1950-1960. Collection Jean-Louis Moreau

Organizers

